

SUN RIVER ELECTRIC FIXTURES — SQUARE BUTTE AND MAGNETO MAN

Richard Kibble of Fort Shaw has a huge interest in power generation. And not just as a member of Sun River Electric, based in Fairfield. Kibble, who lives barely outside the shadow of Square Butte, restores magnetos, the devices used to create the spark in spark plugs before alternators came along. Many of his magnetos now power vintage tractors and cars. Some, like the one above, a low-tension Bosch, are virtually works of art.

Photos by James V. Smith, Jr.

Buckle up.

You're in for a quick sunrise tour of the forest. The sign far right reads: "Leaving North Devon Forest."

END OF THE LINE

